What has been the relationship between politics, religion and gender in the Middle East? Does Islam oppress women? What has been the role of the nation-state in the 20th and 21st centuries in codifying gender relations? The first part of the course will be conceptual. We will discuss Edward Said’s influential critique of orientalism, and also the meaning of using gender as an analytical category in understanding history and society.

In the second part of the course we will learn key Islamic beliefs and practices. This is not a course on Qur’anic exegesis though our discussions will bear on how Abrahamic traditions were shaped within concretely patriarchal societies. In particular, we will discuss Leila Ahmed’s (1992) argument regarding whether Islam promotes equality between men and women.

In the third part, we will focus on how nationalist and religious ideas, practices and movements interacted to produce new, “modern” interpretations of Islam in the 20th and 21st centuries, and what these interpretations have meant for the region’s different political regimes in general, and their gender politics in particular. For this part, we will be reading James Gelvin’s the modern Middle East as well as articles about contemporary politics of gender in Turkey, Egypt, Morocco, Iran, Pakistan, Afghanistan and Saudi Arabia.
